He was advised that this was concerning the so-called Watergate incident. He was aware of the incident and the reported involvement of EVERETTE HOWARD HUNT, Jr., through the published accounts. He acknowledged that he considered HUNT a close personal friend and advised that they share the same political sympathies. [redacted]

[redacted]. However, HUNT left Mexico in about 1954 or 1955 and he has not had much association with HUNT since that time. [redacted]

He has not been contacted by HUNT or anyone else concerning working for the Republican Party. (u)

He would not have been surprised to have been contacted in this regard since his strong Republican and conservative sentiments are well known and because of his background in security. Captain JOSEPH R. JEFFREY, District of Columbia Fire Department, 614 H Street, N.W., was shown a white plastic box with a metal back. On the face it is described as being a "Smoke Detector". On the bottom it bears a seal, held on by glue stating "D.C. Approval 30, Code Number 312". Captain JEFFREY advised that smoke detectors or heat detectors in the District of Columbia are not required to have such a seal.

He stated that such a seal is placed on special fire alarm equipment by the Ellenco Company of Brentwood, Maryland. He stated that that firm is assigned Number 30.

ROBERT E. HARDING, Vice President, Ellenco Company, 41st and Webster Streets, Brentwood, Maryland, was shown what is described as a smoke detector. This particular device carries a seal which reads D.C. Approval Number 30, Code Number 312.

HARDING said that this particular seal has not been used by his Company for about six years. He stated that the seal on the smoke detector is identical to seals placed on Manual Code fire alarm stations which are found in most buildings. He stated that the Approval Number 30 is the number assigned to this Company.

HARDING described the numbers 312 and their significance as follows:

The number 3, or the first digit, would mean a designated place or floor in a building. 3 or below would mean ground level or below. The second number, 1, means that this is the first level below the ground. The third number, 2, means that this is a particular area of the floor wherein this device was mounted. He went on to say that the seals are held or fastened on to the alarm boxes by screws.

HARDING checked his records with negative results regarding the names JAMES WALTER MC CORD, JR., Mc Cord Associates, First National Bank Building, Watergate Apartments and Office Complex and 1700 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C.

HARDING said heat or smoke detectors are not required to have such seals.

HOWARD was shown a memorandum dated April 1, 1972, regarding the removing of EVERETTE HOWARD HUNT, Jr. from the Consultant Job and recommending that he be picked up at 1701 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W.

HOWARD stated he had learned from CHARLES COLSON that HUNT was no longer needed and that HUNT was not being used by him, COLSON, since he was last working for the Domestic Council.

HOWARD said he forwarded this memo to BRUCE KEHRLI since HUNT could not be hired with the White House Staff since he was on annuity from another Government Agency. Since he was having this problem, it was recommended that HUNT be picked up at 1701 Pennsylvania Avenue, N.W. He stated the memo came back to him with KEHRLI's initials approving the pick up at 1701. He stated he did not know first hand or otherwise if HUNT ever did go to work for 1701 Pennsylvania Avenue.

HOWARD denied any knowledge of the Watergate Burglary and denied ever receiving any information from JAMES WALTER MC CORD, Jr., GEORGE GORDON LIDDY or EVERETTE HOWARD HUNT, Jr. regarding any confidential matters from the Democratic National Committee.

~~WILLIAM RHATICAN~~, Staff Assistant, White House was contacted and interviewed in the office of JOHN DEAN, Counsel to the President, at the Executive Office Building regarding his association with EVERETTE HOWARD HUNT, JR. RHATICAN furnished the following information:

RHATICAN advised that he is the White House liaison with the Advertising Counsel of New York which does such advertising as Hire the Handicap and National Football League Drug commercials, etc. Sometime in October, around the 28th, 1971, HUNT, while as a Consultant with the Office of Education and employed by Robert Mullen Company, was working on a film called, "Closer Look." RHATICAN received a copy of a letter by HUNT to the Advertising Counsel wherein he requested Bulletin Status, that is, a magazine type of advertising which comes out every month. HUNT had asked for Bulletin status on the Closer Look Campaign and the letter was written on Mullen Company stationery. A reply from the Counsel was received sometime later, turning down the request because it came too late.

The next contact he had with HUNT was in the form of a letter dated November 12, 1971, wherein HUNT sent a photograph of JULIE EISENHOWER with handicap children. He, HUNT, suggested in his letter that JULIE do the Closer Look spot with the Handicap children. RHATICAN felt it was a good idea to get JULIE involved, however, he could not do it himself so he referred the matter or suggestion to CONNIE STUART, her assistant, and requested that she bring it before JULIE. At that time, the idea never came across.

Later, on March 28, 1972, RHATICAN received another letter from HUNT who was still trying to get JULIE to do the film. He was working on the script at Robert Mullen Company. HUNT suggested that he be permitted to have JULIE for four hours to do the commercials.

According to RHATICAN's file, he replied to HUNT by letter on March 31, 1972, telling HUNT that JULIE would be available on ~~April~~ 25, 1972, to do the film, but for only 90 minutes.

By letter dated April 10, 1972, HUNT wrote to ALLEN HALL, and forwarded the script over to the White House for their approval.

By letter dated April 14, 1972, RHATICAN replied that the commitment was for April 25, 1972, and that JULIE would do the film.

RHATICAN said that the first meeting with HUNT on the matter was on April 24, 1972, when JULIE, HUNT, RHATICAN and TOM RASH of Logos Studios met and discussed the script. JULIE gave her approval after reviewing the script.

On April 25, 1972, the film was completed at Logos Studios Arlington, Virginia.

According to RHATICAN, the next entry in his file reflects that May 23, 1972, the film was reviewed and it was described as good.

On June 28, 1972, the Advertising Council accepted the film spots.

RHATICAN advised that since the completion of the film, he has had no other contact with HUNT.

He stated that for background purposes, HUNT came to the White House or the Executive Office Building on two occasions in October and November of 1971. He stated there were two other contacts with HUNT, in person, at the Executive Office Building after March, 1972. One of these meetings possibly took place at Robert Mullen Company. He stated that at no time did he solicit HUNT to do any work at the White House and that HUNT never told him about any other assignment he was performing or had performed. He stated he never knew HUNT to be involved in any other assignment.

RHATICAN advised that the names of JAMES WALTER McCORD, JR., and GEORGE GORDON LIDDY were not familiar to him, prior to June of 1972. He stated they are known to him now because of the newspaper accounts of their involvement in the Watergate Burglary.

RHATICAN advised that as far as he was concerned, HUNT was not employed by the White House in any capacity while he was involved in the filming of Closer Look, and HUNT never told him that he was a Consultant to the White House. He stated he never saw a claim for any expenses from HUNT and held fast to his belief that HUNT was a consultant for the Office of Education.

Dear Mr. Kinney:

RE: The CLOSER LOOK Campaign

Having just heard from Joel Weiss that the Advertising Council had refused us the renewed campaign listing requested last summer - and which until now had been anticipated, (see attachments), I conferred with Bill Rhatican who professed himself as baffled as I over the Council's refusal. Worse, in anticipation of Bulletin listing, collateral TV kit material had been printed at government expense, and is now unusable since it cited Advertising Council listing.

It may be, of course, that listing for CLOSER LOOK was not included in the November-December Bulletin through inadvertence. Otherwise it is difficult to understand how Help for East Pakistani Refugees can compare on the nation's priority list with the education of America's handicapped children, which is what CLOSER LOOK is all about.

For your information, the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped has in final production a number of other television campaign spots. The material printed for inclusion in these mailing kits cites the old March-April Bulletin listing inasmuch as the television spots were not ready for release during that time period.

While it is probably now too late to ameliorate the present unfortunate situation, I trust the Advertising Council will not withhold use of its lists for subsequent CLOSER LOOK television and radio mailings, so much production money having been expended in good faith.

MEMORANDUM

TO: William Rhatican
FROM: Howard Hunt ~~JA~~
SUBJECT: Julie Nixon Eisenhower

While in Northampton yesterday I was reminded that Julie Eisenhower is involved in graduate studies concerning one or more aspects of child psychology or Special Education ---that general field.

It occurred to me that there might be political benefits accruing from her appearance in a CLOSER LOOK television spot early in 1972. Commissioner Marland has made full educational opportunity for all children one of OE's major priorities, and this thrust is a worthwhile identification for the Administration. Accordingly, we could have OE finance a sympathetic TV spot utilizing Julie, and getting across the message that this Administration not only cares about our young handicapped citizens, but is doing something for them.

Properly produced, and distributed under Ad Council listing, the spot should get several million dollars worth of public service air time with all the related benefits.

from charity to rights. Historically, state and local governments have treated the education of handicapped children as a charitable contribution of government. However, charity does not require responsibility, and so it made little difference whether some children were excluded or whether those who were served receiving their education is a legal right of all children no matter how handicapped they may be and that the denial of such a right is a violation of the constitutional requirements of equal protection.

The research reported herein was performed in part pursuant to Grant No. 18-2013-9, US Office of Education, Bureau of Education for the Handicapped, Washington, D. C.

USOE Sets 1980 Goal

Sidney P. Marland, Jr., U.S. Commissioner of Education, has urged the adoption of a national goal to provide full educational opportunity for every handicapped child in the Nation by 1980.

"The right of a handicapped child to the special education he needs is as basic to him as is the right of any other young citizen to an appropriate education in the public schools," Dr. Marland said. "It is unjust for our society to provide handicapped children with anything less than the full and equal educational opportunity they need to reach their maximum potential and attain rewarding, satisfying lives."

Dr. Marland designated education of the handicapped as one of the five major priorities of the Office of Education for fiscal 1972. Dr. Terrel H. Bell, Deputy Commissioner for School Systems, and Dr. Edwin W. Martin, Associate Commissioner for Education of the Handicapped, are responsible for planning toward the 1980 goal.

There are an estimated six million school-age and one million pre-school age children who are handicapped. Only 40 percent of these children receive any special education at all. As many as half of them, the Bureau of Education for the Handicapped estimates, could develop in regular educational classrooms if they had the support of part-time special education services.

Dr. Marland has already established target objectives for the education of the handicapped in fiscal 1972. They are:

- To provide appropriate special educational programs to an additional 250,000 school-age children, raising the total number to nearly three million.

- To provide 250,000 teen-age handicapped students already receiving special education with appropriate career education programs, including placement and employment services.

- To produce in 1972 through Office of Education-supported college and university training programs the 17,000 trained teachers, teacher trainers and leadership personnel needed to support the additional special education programs.

Along with the education of the handicapped, Dr. Marland has given Office of Education priority to the following areas for fiscal 1972:

- Career education for all who can benefit.

- Quality education and equality of educational opportunity for disadvantaged children.

- Elimination of racial and cultural isolation.

- Innovation and renewal wherever they can strengthen education.

MEMO

TO: Bill Rhatican
FROM: Howard Hunt WJ
SUBJECT: Julie Eisenhower TV Film for CLOSER LOOK

There seems to have been a misconception concerning the amount of time required properly to film Mrs. Eisenhower at the Logos studios in Arlington and on location--here or in the Miami area. The two-hour period allocated by scheduling officials first for the 29th and then the 31st is simply not long enough to assure a first-rate public service film.

The script proposed showed Mrs. Eisenhower in an attractive, modern classroom, with attractive handicapped children; however, location scenes take variable amounts of time, particularly when children are involved. Now, because I gather that Mrs. Eisenhower will not be able to allot one day to the film project, I am reluctantly eliminating the scenes showing her actually with children, and instead we will film her at Logos against a limbo background. This will permit later rear projection of classroom, clinic and playground scenes, though the finished film will project less warmth.

At this juncture, what I am asking for is a firm shooting date the week of April 10th when, I understand, Mrs. Eisenhower will again be in the Washington area. Four hours time at Logos studios would be the minimum.

Subsequently, if Mrs. Eisenhower agrees, we would be able to photograph her with children at Miami's Mailman Center for Child Development, probably the most modern facility of its kind in the country. Done without sound, this segment could be accomplished in two hours' shooting time.

March 28, 1972

Finally, our experience with seven previous CLOSER LOOK television films indicates that we can guarantee her nationwide exposure in the area of a billion home impressions. In this election year that exposure, with its sublimnal benefits to the Administration, ought not be minimized, particularly when TV reaches across all audience classes in a way magazines and newspapers cannot.

Please use your good offices to energize this project once again.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Mrs. Barbara Franklin
FROM: Howard Hunt [initials]
SUBJECT: Filming Mrs. Julie Eisenhower for CLOSER LOOK

Assuming April 25th is now firm for filming at Logos, I am also assuming that the allotted 90 minutes can be devoted exclusively to filming.

This assumes that make-up, hair-dressing, costuming, etc. will be taken care of before Mrs. Eisenhower arrives at Logos studies in Arlington for filming.

Two questions remain:

1. Which 90 minutes on the 25th can we schedule with Logos?
2. When on the 24th can the director, Tom Rash, or myself, familiarize Mrs. Eisenhower with the script?

SUBJECT: Julie Eisenhower PSA Film for "CLOSER LOOK"

At Mark Goode's suggestion I'm enclosing the script for the TV spot Mrs. Eisenhower has agreed to film on April 25th at Logos studios in Arlington.

Meeting today with Mark Goode and Tom Rash (who will direct), we agreed that if we were to adhere to the 90-minute time allotment for filming Mrs. Eisenhower, it is essential that she become familiar with the text prior to arrival - and hopefully on the day or evening before filming.

At that time we would like Tom Rash to go over the material with her; and as writer/producer I'd like to be on hand to make any last minute changes, discuss make-up schedule, costume, etc. with Mrs. Eisenhower.
